Fusible Web Interfacing (Raw Edge Appliqué):

- Make a template using template plastic.
- Mark leaf pattern on paper side of fusible web.
You can mark leaves as close as you desire.
- Iron onto back side of fabric, make sure fusible web is not larger than fabric.
If it is larger it will get on your iron and ironing board.
- Cut out leaves on marked lines.
- Remove paper backing.
- Position and iron into place. Remember to put the vine under the leaf.
- Finish edges as you desire. (We recommend using close finishing stitches because of the raw edge.)
Note: If your finishing stitches are close together, you can use a regular piece of type paper underneath your fabric to keep it from pulling and bunching. When finished sewing, rip paper off the back.
